++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Heavy showers at times over the weekend, improving next week.

Today:
Generally on the cloudy side overall, perhaps damp in places too at first, although developing cloud breaks should allow for some warm sunny spells for many, especially later. Light winds. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud thickening in the west, though most parts staying dry, apart from perhaps the far west later in the night. Misty, with fog patches under clear skies in the east. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Saturday:
After a mostly dry start with some brightness further east cloud will thicken as rain moves in from the west, perhaps turning heavy at times through the afternoon. Light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Sunday will be mostly cloudy, with scattered showers developing, heavy at times. Monday and Tuesday drier and warmer. Brighter as well, with long sunny spells on Tuesday.
